

TRAFFICKING IN SEX AND LABOR: DOMESTIC AND INTERNATIONAL RESPONSES

The 2009 University of Pennsylvania Law Review Symposium Friday, November 13 & Saturday, November 14

Friday, November 13

8:30 AM - 9:30 AM

Breakfast and Registration

9:30 AM – 9:45 AM Welcome by Gloria Steinem

10:00 AM - 12:30 PM Labor Trafficking Panel

Tobias Barrington Wolff (moderating)

Dina Haynes James Gray Pope Dr. Joel Quirk Gloria Steinem

Martina Vandenberg

12:30 PM — 1:30 PM Lunch Break

1:30 PM — 4:00 PM Trafficking and Immigration Policy Panel

Sarah Paoletti (moderating)

Jennifer Chacon

Jennifer ("J.J.") Rosenbaum

Jayashri Srikantiah

4:00 PM – 6:30 PM International Responses to Trafficking

Panel

William Burke-White (moderating)

Diane Marie Amann Janie Chuang Norma Ramos

6:30 PM — 7:30 PM Reception

Saturday, November 14

9:00 AM - 12:30 PM Sex Trafficking Panel

Pamela Shifman (moderating)

Dr. Denise Brennan

Michelle Madden Dempsey

Dr. Melissa Farley Kaethe Morris Hoffer

Ann Jordan Christine Stark

12:30 PM — 2:30 PM Lunch and Keynote Address

Catharine MacKinnon

$200 Practicing Attorneys and Business Professionals

$100 Professors and Government/Non-Profit Employees

$25 Students

Free for University of Pennsylvania faculty, staff, and students

Human trafficking is currently a major global concern. Rates of trafficking, slavery, and involuntary servitude continue to increase, and the global economic crisis is expected to worsen the problem while frustrating efforts at prevention, prosecution, and remediation. Trafficking also touches upon a broad array of domestic and international legal issues, from policies on immigration and prostitution to gender equality and the problem of violence against women. The issue is currently under active debate in Congress and is likely to receive renewed focus with the change of administration in the United States. The University of Pennsylvania Law Review Symposium will address trafficking in persons—the transportation of people across national borders, often through the use of force, coercion, fraud, or duplicity—from a domestic and international perspective.

This program has been approved for 4.5 hours of substantive law credit and 3 hours of ethics credit on Friday and 2.5 hours of substantive law credit and 2 hours of ethics credit on Saturday for Pennsylvania lawyers.

Please register by November 11th at http://www.pennumbra.com/symposia/register.

